The Physicians' Prescribing Skills Course

A Focus on the Prescribing of Addictive and Psychoactive Drugs

Purpose:

This two day course has been created to assist physicians in acquiring knowledge and learning new skills in the field of pain management, especially in the area of chronic non-malignant pain.

Learning Objectives

- to explain the pathophysiology of pain;
- to discern patterns in practice which may lead to addiction on the part of patients;
- to manage patients' pain problems in a way which reflects appropriate use of analgesic, other medications and non-pharmacological methodologies;
- to communicate more effectively with patients regarding pain management;
- to describe the principles of appropriate benzodiazepine prescribing.

Comments

"Well organized course, typical practice situations presented" - Dr. V.C.

"Very impressed with the standardized patients - gave an opportunity to put together facts on pain evaluation into a clinical situation. Exceeded expectations. I've learned a lot and gained a great deal of confidence - worthwhile!" - Dr. E.I.

"A very relevant and basic must know knowledge. Excellent summary" - Dr. M.D.

"Excellent knowledge suggestions regarding problems associated with appropriate prescribing of opioids and benzodiazepines" - Dr. H.K.
