Javad Rabbani-Rassouli

Defendant

AGREED STATEMENT OF FACTS - FINDING

1. Mr. Rabbani-Rassouli is not a current or past member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario, nor of the Colleges of Chiropractors, Optometrists, Psychologists or Dental Surgeons of Ontario.
2. In 2012, [REDACTED] of North York purchased a coupon online for $99.00 dollars of Botox redeemable at a business known as "The Aesthetic Zone" located at 55 Doncaster Avenue, in Thornhill, ON.
3. When purchasing the coupon, [REDACTED] relied upon the representation on the website offering the coupon that the Botox would be administered by a doctor. In the comments on the website, a representative of The Aesthetic Zone identified the doctor who administered the Botox as "Dr. Rabbani". [REDACTED] printed a screenshot of the website and circled the representations that she relied upon.

- I would like to ask that the screenshot of the website be marked as an Exhibit.

4. On September 29, 2012, [REDACTED] attended at The Aesthetic Zone at 55 Doncaster Avenue to redeem her coupon. At The Aesthetic Zone, a woman named [REDACTED] discussed pricing and services with [REDACTED] in the waiting room.

5. [REDACTED] was subsequently escorted into a treatment room. In the treatment room, the defendant Mr. Javad Rabbani-Rassouli introduced himself to [REDACTED] as "Dr. Rabbani". Mr. Rabbani-Rassouli was wearing a white doctor's coat. He examined [REDACTED] and made recommendations about how many units of Botox [REDACTED] needed to treat her wrinkles and where injections should be made.

6. Mr. Rabbani-Rassouli then injected [REDACTED] with a substance around the forehead and eyes.

7. Following the injections, Mr. Rabbani-Rassouli gave [REDACTED] a business card identifying him as "Dr. Javad Rabbani M.D. – Cosmetic Dermatology".

- I would like to ask that the business card that Mr. Rabbani-Rassouli gave [REDACTED] be marked as an Exhibit.

8. On May 5, 2013, [REDACTED] attended at a residence at 124 Boake Trail in Richmond Hill. There, Mr. Rabbani-Rassouli injected [REDACTED] with a substance around her forehead and eyes, and injected [REDACTED] with a substance in her lips.
